WHEN THE WEATHER IS FINE!

The Crewless Vessel.

A mysterious circumstance occurred on the shores of Rhode Island, about the year 1750, which caused much remark and speculation at the time, and the mystery connected with the incident remains unexplained to this day.

Early one cold salt morning in autumn, a vessel was seen by the inhabitants of the island of Rhode Island far in the offing, standing under a press of sail towards Narragansett Bay. It was a square rigged vessel, and as she approached the shore many conjectures were made respecting her character and name. At length she was recognized as a boat belonging to Newport, which was expected from England about that time. About 11 o'clock A. M. she had approached very near the island, and many of the inhabitants had gathered on the beach to welcome her safe return, and cheer her as she passed along. The course of the vessel was onward, directly towards the shore, and the anxious people expected to see her keep off the wind, and steer in the direction of the harbor. To their surprise and alarm, they found that no change was made in her course, and not a sail taken in.

They hailed her, but received no answer. They proclaimed her danger, and warned those on board to change her course, or the vessel would be wrecked; but even this could elicit no reply. It was then remarked, much to the consternation of the assembled islanders, that not a soul could be seen upon her decks. No human power seemed to direct her movements, and in a few minutes the vessel struck the beach within half a dozen rods of the wondering crowd.

She was boarded immediately by men all eager to learn the cause of this strange proceeding. They found that a fire was still burning in the caboose, the kettle on, and arrangements made apparently for breakfast. The table was set, as if for the officers, but no person was found on board. The only live thing visible, was a shut with a litter of puppies. The long boat was missing, and had recently been hoisted out, as was evident by the tackles on the yards, but the baggage of the crew and officers had not apparently been disturbed, and the vessel's papers and the captain's were all found in regular order. The question was asked, where are the crew? But these questions have never yet been satisfactorily answered. None of the crew of that vessel were seen or heard of from that time.

Conjecture of course has been busy at work but the facts furnish slight grounds for any hypothesis, and whether the crew, alarmed at some imaginary danger, panic struck, took to the boats and were lost, or whether the proceeding was connected with deeds of mutiny and murder by a portion of the crew, will now never be ascertained.

WHAT IF THE EUROPEAN POWERS DO RECOGNIZE THE SOUTHERN CONFEDERACY?—Suppose the Confederate rebels should be recognised as an independent power by France and Great Britain, what of it? They are to stand or fall by the power of their arms, not at all by the favor of foreign governments. If we conquer them, their recognition by the cotton-hungry powers will not harm us; if they conquer us, they will need no foreign countenance. This is an American contest, and it will be settled right here. It is said that the new Plenipotentiaries from Secessia, who have just stolen out of Charleston harbor in the Nashville, are to offer France and England a "protectorate" of their Confederacy "for a limited period," to induce them to take up the forlorn cause of the rebels. Well, we trust they will make the offer; for nothing would more clearly demonstrate the utter weakness and imposture of Secession; and if there is one spark of manly feeling left at the South, such an offer must induce first shame, then repentance. Be assured, patriots everywhere, that we shall have no serious trouble with foreign powers unless our rulers unite in making it. Let us firmly assert our rights, but patiently endure, if we must, even wrongs from foreign courts, "for a limited period." It will be time enough to assert and enforce our country's right to be considered a great power after she shall have chased away the armed traitors who are beleaguering her Capital.—N. Y. Tribune.

CLOTHING ALLOWANCES TO AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN SOLDIERS.—The allowance of clothing to our soldiers is much greater than to soldiers in European armies. Our troops get one uniform coat and two sacks coats a year, and a pair of trousers every five months. In the French army, the allowance for three years is only one coat and three pairs of trousers, while a shell jacket is given every two years. In the Sardinian and Belgian armies, the great coat is expected to last eight years. But the great durability of the clothing of European armies is easily accounted for when we consider the care which is taken to insure good material. Every yard of cloth is subject to very minute and distinct examinations by boards of officers, assisted by inspectors who weigh it, shrink it, and examine it inch by inch against a strong light. The wool and chemical test to detect the quality of the dye, and the manufactures are at all times open to inspectors, who watch the fabrication at every stage.

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue
With the stars of Washington undefiled and true
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

WEDNESDAY MORNING DEC 4 1861

The Oregonian is the only paper in the City which receives the Dispatches.

☞ Some interesting articles will be found on the first and last pages of this paper

Foreign Opinions

The London Economist of the 31st ultimo, in alluding to the Southern delusion, said that "the South still entertained the extraordinary notion that by depriving France and England of the American cotton supply they will compel these governments to interfere and force the United States to abandon the blockade" The Economist goes on to say, that, "If they really expect such a high handed violation of all international usage on our part, we can only say their leaders are less sensible and experienced men than we have hitherto supposed The re is not the remotest chance that either Power would feel justified for a moment in projecting such an act of declared and unwarrantable hostility against the United States"

The Economist proceeds to say—"We are less dependent upon the South than the South is upon us, as they will ere long begin to discover It is more necessary for them to sell than for us to buy. As we have more than once shown, the worst that can happen to us from a continuance of the blockade will be that our mills will have to work two thirds time, and it is by no means sure from present appearances whether the aggregate demands of the world would suffice to take off much more than three fourths of a full production even if we had cotton in abundance On the other hand, if the Southern Americans sell nothing, if they and their enemies agree to forbid any cargoes leaving their shores, they will have to do without the £40,000,000 or £50,000,000 which they are accustomed usually to raise by the sale of their produce."

The Economist suggests that the South knows how much privation her people can endure that their reported sale of the crops to their government amounts to nothing, for confederate paper will not purchase the articles they most need—and that ere long the South will discover that cotton is not king, and that England and France have not the slightest intention of intervening in the strife

The London Mercantile Gazette of the 2d October suggests that the blockade of the South is not effective and that cotton could be readily procured in British bottoms if the confederate authorities had not established an interior blockade on the transportation of cotton to the seaboard, in the hope of forcing the French and English governments to interfere and raise the blockade for the benefit of Southern independence To this effect that journal says

The absence of American cotton from the markets of Europe is in reality, due not to the efficacy of a blockade which, in the nature of things, could not be and is not efficient but to the mutual understanding and determination of the Confederates themselves The Southern factors and underwriters have refused to have any dealings with the cotton planters if the cotton is brought down to the ports It must be stored where it is grown The object is to prevent the cotton leaving the country, in order that such a pressure shall be put upon the cotton consuming countries of Europe as will result in an active intervention to terminate the present interference with neutral commerce. This is the natural explanation of the fact that of the 4,000,000 bales of cotton already packed, not one pound is on the ocean, and not the deficiency of a blockade, which, in the nature of things, could not be efficient for the simple reason that the Federal Government have not the disposable force to make it so

"Whatever may be our want of cotton, we have abstained from taking advantage, as we might fairly have done, of the lulls of the Federal Government in this matter of the establishment of a blockade, in order to procure it. We can still afford to pursue the policy on which we have decided in reference to the contending parties in America, and so little do we advocate the cotton monopoly of the South, that our hope is that one consequence of the present disturbance will be the cessation for ever of that dependence on America for the supply of a material which has hitherto been the distinguishing characteristic of our commercial relations with that country"

A Backward Blow at Secession

There seems to be a movement among a class of men who have become imbued with principles now known as secession in the right direction The organized secession party here drank the health of Beauregard—rejoice in rebel victories—pray for the defeat of our armies—hail Davis and Beauregard as "the glory of our country"—and speak of the United States troops as the enemy"—while some of their brethren are all the time backing out of the traitorous concern, and seeking employment under the government The secession organs are becoming too weak to do much their late friends! They see the end before them'

Our correspondent at Olympia represents that there has been for some time a movement there, by parties, to wash themselves of the foul taint of secessionism by securing military employment under the government They have come to the conclusion that "old Abe" is the consutitional head of the government and that he must be sustained as such by the patriotism and bravery of the people Hence they are anxious to secure military employment under the government and it is now announced that in pursuance of representations at Washington, the following appointments have been made

"Dr Steinberger has been commissioned to raise a regiment of troops in Washington Territory, and Gen James Tilton appointed adjutant W W. Miller is also commissioned quarter master an Gen Steven s command with the rank of Major"

This is a very fair beginning!

Walla Walla News

We obtained the following items of news from Walla Walla, by the steamer Julia, which arrived on yesterday morning.

A fall of snow commenced on Saturday last at Walla Walla, covering the ground to the depth of four inches up to noon of that day The storm probably continued several days

Miners were leaving daily for the Salmon river diggings; but it was considered that the recent storms must render it impossible for them to get into or out of those diggings without great risk of life. It was believed that persons going to Salmon river would consult their own interest by remaining in comfortable quarters until the last of February or first of April before leaving for those mines

A man by the name of Wiser, from Benton county, took out $5,600 in two days, in Baboon Gulch, Salmon river diggings.

A passenger fell overboard from the Tenino, at the Deschuttes on Sunday evening injuring himself seriously, but not fatally

The road from the Dalles to the Deschuttes is almost impassable.

The Washington Statesman, made its first appearance at Walla Walla on Friday last.

Provisions are very high at Oro Fino. Flour 30cts per pound; bacon, sugar and apples 50cts per pound

A Chance for a "Peace" Mission.—Hon. A R Boteler was lately a member of Congress from Virginia. In announcing himself as a candidate for a seat in the Congress of the Confederate States, he says

"It is but proper that I should say that having done all that I could consistent with self respect, to preserve the Union upon its original basis of constitutional equality, I am equally resolute in my determination to resist all attempts that may be made for its restortion—being unalterably opposed to reconstruction at any time or on any terms."

Here is a good subject for our peace men to operate upon.

Ex Governor Wickliffe of Kentucky is one of the wealthiest men in the State A son of his is in the confederate army but the venerable old man is strong, true and loyal A Union meeting in Hickman he made a powerful and telling speech, the best of which is thus reported

As an evidence of the sincerity of his feelings he offered to support the families of all who went to the field. But, if there was any man in the crowd that could not go, he thought he would agree to furnish for him and pledged his last dollar to it In putting down the resolution about sixty split up the forest ring.

The Indians have named their camp 'Camp Wickliffe' in his honor.

Declined.—Juan de Bourbon formally declines the crown of Mexico

"Confessed by the Corn"—The monarch of the mercantile world just now is not cotton but corn. Our last reports from England end with the significant full paragraph "Breadstuffs firm but quiet" Parties are beginning to complain of the high price of food Both in Great Britain and France the indications of the harvest are greater than the actual yield but they tell the truth in another way Either the [illegible] for six [illegible]

[illegible] that the [illegible] is [illegible] it is estimated will [illegible] fifty millions of dollars [illegible] millions of dollars deficiency—a [illegible] in the failure which last year [illegible] upon ourselves and for it Britain We stated recently that large quantities of flour were being shipped from Liverpool to various parts on France, and we learn from that sixty millions of grains in gold have been sent to Russia to purchase grain This said disaster will react upon the English market and will effect, more or less seriously all the grain markets in the world Hitherto plenty of grain for exportation at the ports in Russia and on the western shores of the Atlantic Both Canada and the United States will be importing largely into France'

This is confirmed by other authorities, which have already produced great activity in our own grain markets The freight alone is said, floats four millions of bushels of grain a day, and yet this and other means of transportation cannot meet the demands of the trade The world is prepared to do homage to the new sovereign —N Y Post

Honors Carried Off.—Capt Tuchenor of this State in the Indian war on Rogue river in 1850, invented a portable boat Its frame was light, and the covering was canvas It could all be carried by a mule, and would sustain ten men in crossing rivers Col R C Buchanan, of the U S Army, went on to Washington and took out a patent for it Capt. Tuchenor was left out in the cold That boat is now deemed of great value in the military service

CITY.

CIRCUIT COURT.—Yong Ah Kau, a Chinaman, under arrest on a charge of fraud made by Wa Ching. Defendant's counsel yesterday moved the Court for an order to discharge the defendant, for the reason that a judgment had been rendered. The motion was overruled, and the Celestial was ordered to remain in jail until the judgment is paid, or security given for his non-departure from the State of Oregon vs. Robert Sutherland. Indictment for adultery. Jury trial—verdict guilty, as charged in the indictment, and prisoner remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

To-day being the last of the term, the Court will be occupied in hearing motions and demurrers, and no more jury trials will take place.

SENTENCED.—Mary Champaney and Robt. Sutherland were sentenced yesterday, by Judge Wait: the former to pay a fine of two hundred, and the latter three hundred dollars, or stand committed in the county jail.

THIS BY YES JULIA.—Nine men, packers, came down on the Julia, with from $50,000 to $60,000 in hand—the result of their summer's work in the mines. Tracy & Co.'s express brought down $45,000. The whole amount which was brought down by the Julia on Monday night was about $150,000.

It is said that the rise in the Columbia river is much greater now than it has been for years, at this season of the year. At the Cascades the river had risen some seven feet, on Monday last.

THEATRE.—Mr. Dennison has returned with his troupe of minstrels. They open to-night at the Willamette Theatre, with something new and amusing. A good place to spend an hour, these long, rainy evenings.

IT IS EXCITING.—Coming down street yesterday, we passed two sturdy looking miners coming from the Assay Office with just about as much gold in bags as they could well carry.

THE RIVER.—The rise yesterday was at the rate of three inches per hour, until towards evening, which it was apparently not so rapid in consequence, no doubt, of the extensive surface the water had to spread. Our merchants were engaged all day in removing perishable articles from their cellars to more elevated positions. The ferry boat is still unable to cross the river, on account of the swift current and the great quantity of drift wood afloat.

NO MAILS.—The stage has not arrived at this city for the last two days, and of course we have no mails. The roads South are impassable, and it is very likely several days will elapse before we have any mails.

OREGON CITY.—We learn that the bridge across from Oregon City to the Island Mills, has been carried away by the freshet.

We clip the following items from the first number of the Washington Statesman, published at Walla Walla:

ROAD EXPEDITION.—We learn that a party are now in this city for the purpose of exploring and surveying a route through from this place to the Salmon river country, which, if successful, will materially shorten the distance to the new Eldorado. They purpose to proceed in as nearly a direct line as possible from this place, crossing the spurs of the Blue mountains in the neighborhood of an old Indian trail, thus making the distance much shorter than by going around the foot of the mountains. Capt. DeLacy, an old engineer, is at the head this party, which is to be composed of residents of this city. We hope they may meet with the most signal success. Our people are eminently interested in the success of this enterprise, as it will more or less affect the prosperity of the city.

Wm. C. Biggs, on the 25th instant, appeared and surrendered himself up to the authorities on a charge of having killed Edward Manny. An examination was had before Judge W. B. Kelly and Justice Horton, who discharged the prisoner on the ground that it was justifiable in what he did, having acted only in self defense.

A Tri-weekly line of stages, from this place to the Dalles, is about being put in operation by Messrs. Miller & Blackmer. The first stage will leave December 3d.

The Question Settled.

Dr Swett's Grape Bitters, or Restorative Wine, manufactured under the supervision of Mrs. A. M. SWETT, the celebrated Clairvoyant Physician, and prepared from roots and herbs of great medicinal virtue, combined with the pure juice of the California Grape—a certain remedy for Liver Complaint, Debility, Biliousness, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Impure Appetite, Impure Breath, &c., and all diseases requiring a powerful Liver Invigorator and Tonic. Warranted the best remedy ever invented for diseases peculiar to females, such as Leucorrhœa, or Whites, Weaknesses, &c. Sold by all Druggists, and by DANIEL SWETT, Proprietor, 536 California street, San Francisco. aug24dm

Coughs.—The sudden change of our climate are sources of Pulmonary, Bronchial, and Asthmatic Affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See Advertisement.

The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY is already secured in a position which places it, as well as its proprietor, far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy, with others, an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical stars of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equalled him in this country; as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma, and the honorary ad eundem degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for more extended labors, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has long given his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he has become so great an expert, that he is now regarded as the LEADER in this branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most exclusive journals. The Doctor's offices are at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the sworn certificates of remarkable cures, in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in correspondence, please enclose $50 in their letters, and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., San Francisco, Cal. june26dsely

"I wonder what makes my eyes so weak?" said a fop to a gentleman. "You needn't wonder—they are in a weak place," replied the gentleman.

"How is it," said one little miss to another "that John's never afraid, and I am?" "Because he's got a Roman nose, and feels safe, don't you remember how we read, that it has always been said that a Roman knows—no danger?"

Milton was asked by a friend whether he would instruct his daughter in the different languages. His reply was: "No sir; one tongue is enough for a woman."

A gentleman wishing to get rid of an unwelcome visitor, and not liking to tell him "there's the door," qualified it thus: "Elevate your polpotha to the summit of your pericranium, and allow me to present to your ocular demonstration the scientific piece of mechanism which forms the egress portion of this apartment."

"Look here, Dixey, you knows a thing or two. Dough't you think, from de elevation of the atmosphere, dat we'll have rain to-day?"

"Well, I declare, Sanford, I doesn't 'zactly understand astronomery, but it does think it looks very suntitious."

Remarkable Instances of Medical Relief.

[illegible] certificates of three of the [illegible] gratitude, make known their [illegible] Notary public. The deponents [illegible] their publicity, and we [illegible] all affected:

[illegible] permanent relief of their suffering may be [illegible] to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for the [illegible] of his health. Borne down by the [illegible] to the various practices of [illegible] depressed in body and mind, [illegible] duty imposed upon them [illegible] life, I sought the advice of [illegible] at first regarded my disease as of trifling [illegible] after a few weeks, and in spite [illegible] treatment, I found, to my [illegible] relief, my symptoms became [illegible] features; and being told by one [illegible] being principally confined to the [illegible] consequence, I despaired of [illegible] health, strength and energy; and as a last resort, [illegible] but a faint hope, called upon Dr. Czapkay, who [illegible] some medicine which almost [illegible] dull pain and [illegible] head. Encouraged by the result, I resolved to place myself [illegible] his care. And by a strict obedience [illegible] directions and advice, my head became clear and [illegible] collected, the constant pain in my back and [illegible] weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction of my whole body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the [illegible] and evil forebodings, the self-distrust and want of [illegible] to others, the incapability to study, and want of [illegible] the frightful, exciting, and at times [illegible] night, followed by involuntary discharges, have all disappeared; and in fact, in two months after having [illegible] the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life—that [illegible] but a short time ago I contemplated to end [illegible] hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience, that [illegible] under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this seventh day of April, A. D. 1856. Signed,

JOHN MIDDLETON, Notary Public.

MARYSVILLE, June 26, 1858.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine, and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well, except that I have not quite got my strength yet, but soon will with the medicine. It is just three weeks you may recollect, since I called on you [illegible], with my constitution, as I thought, quite entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly; but the night you might be able to do so, [illegible] on my back and head, and [illegible] nerves, so that I would not get excited and trouble me [illegible]. Now that you know what I expected, you will [illegible] my satisfaction at my complete cure, [illegible] my pimples, and the removal of those sores and blotches [illegible] my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and therefore [illegible] these cures to me, which you said were [illegible] cured of my secret [illegible]. I can hardly tell you which [illegible] greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except not having [illegible] got my strength. I feel as well as any man can [illegible].

Enclosed I send you a twenty dollars over your [illegible] think myself [illegible] cured. If you think such [illegible] been fixed, you can put this letter in the [illegible] remain gratefully yours.

THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to Gratitude.

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire of [illegible] I would truly before the public a case which deserves [illegible] recommendation, not only as an act of scientific skill [illegible] humanity also. About two years ago, I suddenly and [illegible] was seized with a fever and [illegible] which, owing to my inability to meet the [illegible] quickly upon a thorough medical treatment, and the [illegible] agreement which I met with on attempting to [illegible] such I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill [illegible] physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of [illegible] thrown down, to the ground without the slightest [illegible] and although conscious to the accusies, I was [illegible] unconscious by the acid soon learned to look upon [illegible] would in most instances shelter me from danger, [illegible] never who sought to produce the existence of [illegible] While in this state, and having previous to my [illegible] tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to [illegible] seeking relief a physician, and by recommendation, [illegible] upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my [illegible] and of my inability to reward him for his services, [illegible] of which, however, he at once undertook my case, and [illegible] the blessing of God, I was once more restored to [illegible] health. Unable to reward him for the [illegible] present, and with sensations of my indebtedness, I [illegible] direct to myself and all afflicted, to make the [illegible] of their those in need of medical advice may find a [illegible] in whom every confidence can be placed.
